

BERLIN'S ARCHITECTURAL GEM

A short walk from the central boulevard of Unter den Linden is Hotel de Rome, in a building that was once the head office of the Dresdner Bank. Designers Tommaso Ziffer and Olga Polizzi have respected the rich history of the building, maintaining its architectural splendour while adding a contemporary twist. Highlights include the hotel's indoor pool, which is housed in the original bank vault, an impressive ballroom with double-height ceiling and glazed roof and four historic suites (with high ceilings and wood-panelled walls) which were once the offices of the bank directors. Enjoy Italian-Mediterranean cuisine alfresco on the restaurant terrace, drink in the vibrant bar overlooking Bebelplatz and admire the spectacular view from the rooftop terrace.
